COLOMBO (Reuters) — Mr. Sirinawa Bandaranaike, Ceylon's prime minister, said today his government would deny entry into Ceylon of vessels and aircraft carrying nuclear weapons or those equipped for nuclear warfare.

In a foreign policy speech to the Senate, Mr. Bandaranaike appealed to the United States not to send naval vessels with nuclear capacity to the Indian Ocean.

KENNEDY THOUGHT HE SUCCEEDED

Robert Kennedy, seen here with a shapely girl police escort and another policeman in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, thought until about noon Thursday, his bid to bring peace between Malaysia and her neighbors, Indonesia and the Philippines, had succeeded. President Sukarno of Indonesia had issued a statement to that effect. Then as soon as Kennedy was out of range heading to Britain, Sukarno announced that the aggressive confrontation of the new state of Malaysia must go on. The situation remained unclear today as Mr. Kennedy arrives in London for talks with Prime Minister Home. (AP Wirephoto) tying session of Parliament. Prime Minister Pearson announced Monday when shuffling his cabinet and its departmental responsibilities.

The government gave notice to Parliament last December of its intention to implement major recommendations of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation.

It was also one of Mr. Pearson's 1963 election campaign promises, made in Winnipeg, that a Liberal government would establish an agency to see that Prairie communities are not harmed by abrupt ending of railway service.

Mr. Pearson said Monday the agency will be responsible to Agriculture Minister Hays because smoothing out the effects of abandonment on the economy is primarily of concern to rural communities, "and especially to farmers in western Canada."

As the new minister of transport, J. W. Pickersgill is expected to pilot the controversial and complicated railway legislation through the House of Commons.

The royal commission headed by M. A. MacPherson of Regina called in its three-volume report, released in 1961 and 1962, for orderly abandonment of uneconomic branch lines and passenger services, along with measures to enable the railways to compete more effectively with other means of transportation.

The Canadian National Railway has filed a long list of abandonment proposals with the board of transport commissioners.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has plans to abandon many of its lines but has not yet listed all of them with the board.

Mr. Big Satellite All Set For Go

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) World leadership in rocket power may be the prize next Monday when the United States plans to launch the Saturn I on its first two-stage test flight.

If all goes well, the rocket will lift a 37,700-pound satellite nearly three times heavier than any previous payload.

The satellite, mostly dead weight with no scientific value, will dwarf the largest payloads orbited by the Russians—Sputnik VII and VIII which weighed 14,292 pounds each. The heaviest U.S. space payload weighed 10,200 pounds.

Unity, Stability, Highlights BCFGA Delegates Say

Editors Note: The 55th annual meeting of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association is now in the record books. What did it accomplish? Was it different from other like summit meetings of fruit growers? In an effort to answer these questions the Daily Courier interviewed a delegate attending his first convention and one who has been at every convention since 1935. Here are their impressions.

Hans Rietveld, a 50-year-old fruit grower from Cawston, has just completed his first BCFGA convention as a delegate. Born in West Germany, Mr. Rietveld received a B.Sc. in horticulture there and emigrated to Canada in 1954.

He worked at a dairy farm just outside Ottawa for the first year, and then worked in other parts of Ontario, the Prairies and in the Kootenays before moving to Cawston. He managed a 28-acre orchard there until he moved to Kelowna in 1955.

For the next four years he managed an orchard on the shores of Skaha Lake and then moved to Cawston. He managed a 28-acre orchard there until he moved to Kelowna in 1955.

grewers there are barriers between districts. I don't feel that B.C. growers are as united as they should be. I think it's because of the lack of contact with the product.

Personally, I am very happy. Mr. Garrieh was returned to office, but I would also have welcomed Mr. Bhatt. Thinking about it, I think the market will be better than it was last year.

Mr. Garrieh has brought forward many new ideas such as staff protection and pools of apples to one variety does not substitute another.

What he has done nothing startling lately. The question arose during this convention among the delegates of why it is that B.C. growers are so apathetic.

Sees Growers Apathy Nowadays As Threat To Industry's Future. Fraser Black, 54, of Glenmore, Kelowna, who was still in school, his father had died during the war and when his mother brought the family to Kelowna in 1920 she bought an orchard.

When he was 16, Mr. Black took over his mother's orchard with the help of an uncle and has been in the business ever since. The Ellison orchard has been sold and he now owns 30 acres in the Glenmore district growing apples and pears.

Columbia Ratification Only One Step Away

On Wednesday, as expected, the new agreements on the Columbia River Development treaty were signed by representatives of Canada and the United States. Now all that remains for the treaty to become operative is for it to be approved by the Canadian Parliament.

While it would be too much to expect that the treaty will be quickly approved without lengthy debate, it is to be hoped that the politicians in Ottawa will make no more than a token objection. The treaty would appear to have the support of the Liberals and Social Crediters. However, the New Democrats have always opposed the treaty and may be expected to fight to the last ditch. While the stand of the Conservatives is uncertain, it may be assumed that, as the treaty today is not the one they negotiated, they will endeavor to pick holes they can in it.

The revised treaty must be considered a victory for Premier Bennett of this province. He fought for the right to sell in the U.S. B.C.'s share of the additional power developed by American dams which the development will make possible, rather than to bring the power back to this province where it will not be needed. He also fought for a price for this power of "5 mills or the equivalent" and this it would seem he is getting. The money being paid in one lump sum by the United States, when converted to Canadian funds and invested until needed to pay the construction costs will equal the five mills.

This money will pay for all the construction costs in Canada as well as the cost of half the generators in the Mica dam. Mr. Bennett wanted enough to pay for all the generators, but he eventually compromised for half of them.

Whether work will start on the project this year is problematical. During the past two years, the engineering work has been progressing, it is understood, but it is unlikely that any contracts will be let until the treaty is ratified by Parliament. Unlikely, that is, unless Mr. Bennett chooses to gamble that the treaty will indeed be ratified. It would seem a reasonably safe gamble.

At this stage, the Columbia treaty would seem to be a fait accompli. Should it not be ratified, or should ratification be long delayed, the responsibility will rest squarely on the shoulders of the New Democrat and Conservative parties.

693-315, Where Are You?

The registration is part of setting up a new system under which each individual will be identified in Ottawa's records by a single number.

Let's not kid ourselves: part of the price of all-embracing social welfare is an Orwellian loss of personal identity in which the individual becomes a number in the electronic memory of a computer. It has already happened in the United States, where a man can scarcely live without a social security number. Now it is to happen here.

Logic demands (and so does the report of the Glasse royal commission on government organization) that the growing pile of records surrounding the individual should be consolidated; that there should be a master file. And yet...

Tagging a man with a number for the purpose of the Unemployment Insurance Commission was acceptable, or at least accepted: It was, to a degree, a private matter between a man and a single branch of government that, if faceless, was still specific. A registration for the purpose of "Ottawa's records" is psychologically different, because it is open-ended.

It may start quite legitimately, with those same unemployment insurance records. It may then take in, still legitimately, the individual's payments into a portable pension fund, and then perhaps his old age pension, and then the status of his children for family allowances.

But after that? His credit rating? His religion? His politics? His personal habits and weaknesses? His police record? His "loyalty"?

In a free country it will not be so. What Ottawa is undertaking is not a tagging of the individual for the uses of government, as wartime national registration was, but for his own benefit so that he may receive what is, under the welfare state, his due.

Sensible Canadians will recognize this. And yet they may be forgiven a small shiver. When the individual is punched into a computer's infinite memory his privacy is diminished. In some remote vault of Authority he lies naked, impersonally exposed to anyone who chooses to feed in not the name of John Doakes but No. 932-268-041.

Canada Could Use This

From all indications, President Johnson means business. Not only are taxes to be cut in the United States in order to stimulate the economy, but at the same time government spending itself is being greatly reduced.

In the past few weeks, the United States government has announced major reductions in defence outlays through the closing of facilities both in the U.S. and abroad. Various other governmental agencies and departments have also been instructed to institute economies and to start reducing the number of employees on their payrolls.

President Johnson is showing early in the game that he is no "pie in the sky" politician and that if taxes are to be cut, compensating reductions in governmental expenditure have to be made if the nation's budget is to be kept on an even keel.

Here in Canada a royal commission has pointed out that this country could save itself many millions of dollars by certain economies and reorganizations which the commission's report blue-printed. Apparently the commission's recommendations have been lost in one of the numerous Ottawa pigeon-holes.

President Johnson has made a constructive approach to the problem and one which Canada could well afford to follow herself.

SOME PEOPLE ARE HARD TO CONVINCE

Target of Macleod's "Game" May Be PM's Job

LONDON (CP)—Some Conservative members of Parliament have expressed the belief that Ian Macleod is playing a long-headed game aimed at making him a man-of-the-people Tory prime minister.

Macleod, writing in the weekly Spectator of which he now is editor, charged in effect last week that the October battle for the Tory leadership was won on the playing fields of Eton, the elite school which produced Britain's last three premiers.

Macleod raised yet a new flurry of comment by giving his inside story of October events in reply to a book, "The Fight for the Tory Leadership," by Randolph Churchill, son of Sir Winston.

Randolph is an admirer of former premier Harold Macmillan who apparently was one of the main sources of "The Fight."

The most startling aspect of the article by Macleod, leader of the House of Commons under Macmillan, is his view that the October struggle was an elaborate charade to deny the leadership to R. A. Butler, No. 2 man in the government for 10 years.

Macleod, who also was a co-chairman of the party, also makes the surprising admission he felt sure Butler was going to succeed Macmillan until virtually the last minute and only learned the true facts—that the now Sir Alec Douglas-Home was the choice—by accident.

Several commentators expressed surprise that Macleod repeated intraparty strife in an election year and surmised it was simply to set the record straight. Ian Walker, Sunday Telegraph political correspondent, says the 50-year-old former colonial secretary has revealed in the opinion of Tory MPs a long-term attempt to establish himself as a middle-class party leader.

BLAMES NINE MEN

"They base this on the pointed way he pins the responsibility for Sir Alec's selection on nine men, and adds 'right' to 'went to Eton'—a charge likely to be renewed if the Conservatives under Sir Alec are defeated in the election," Walker writes.

This had aroused resentment among senior MPs but also struck an "echoing chord" with more humble members resentful of their exclusion from the decision-making apparatus of the party. Macleod, born in Yorkshire, is the son of a Scots doctor.

Another view of Macleod's prospects is gloomy. If the Tories win the election, his opposition to the leadership of Sir Alec will look wrong-headed. If they lose, people might say it was partly his fault.

But columnist Cross-Bencher in the Sunday Express says that in an "odd way" Macleod's revelations may help him achieve leadership in time.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

KOOTENAY APPEAL

Sir: The wind-whipped waters of Kootenay Lake pounded a requiem today for seven men who lost their lives in its glacial depths on the dark night of January 17. Revealed through the storm mists of next morning, the overturned boat was found far off course. Some distance away the body of Reginald Bennett was recovered. The other men have not been found, nor is discovery likely. It is rarely that this lake yields back the dead.

Missing and presumed drowned are Leonard Goodard, Sidney Gardiner, Robert Haffner, Lyle Overholt, Alan Hart, and Marvin Brown. All were residents in the Creston Valley, and all, save two, were married men. They were members of a logging crew from Iye, and they were young and daring, and lived life full and strong. There was realization of rough water at shorelines, but out of the tremendous waves out above the deep currents in midlake. The boat was sturdy and the passengers' hearts were high. It was the weekend and they were travelling back to those who waited for them. But it was destined to be their last journey, and the last long watch of those at home.

The parents of the men, in their own sorrow, will be of comfort to the widows and the children. They have loved longer and their sadness contains a more proved knowledge that, always in the midst of life we are in death. Looking at the temporary slowness of grief and shock, the widows are not crying now that the future may by the disaster have without full knowledge of the fact, a be finality, desperate. They have lost the men whom they cherished and no longer have they husbands to take care of them.

The nine little children, each future lacking the strength of paternal love and guidance and financial support. But church bells toll their own requiem.

and much of their bewilderment will be unspoken. These small ones are being told that their fathers will not come home. They are hearing the kindest word of all: Never.

There is only one thing that the people of the Valley can do to aid these families. A widespread drive for financial assistance has been started by the village council, the municipal association and the board of trade. The committee in charge asks that people give generously to this most worthy cause. Donations may be sent to the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, the Royal Bank of Canada, or to J. Street, treasurer of the committee.

Out of your caring, will you donate what you can spare to aid the wives and families of the lost men? Please help them now, for their future is bleak and despairing, and they have, now, no way to help themselves.

THE DISH OF SCOTLAND

The Scots Are Never 'Mingy' Mixing Traditional Haggis

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
STEWED ORANGE
MARMALADE PUDDING
The Scotch haggis, a dry bread pudding, is a traditional dish of Scotland. It is made of oatmeal, suet, and minced meat, and is served with a sauce of onion, vinegar, and salt. The haggis is a symbol of Scottish pride and is often served at formal dinners.

For most dinners with many guests, a comparatively small haggis will be prepared and presented symbolically, while the real haggis is served in a large pot.

Margot Chase Smith May Run For Republican Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dozen years ago, when Margaret Chase Smith was still a novelty in the United States Senate, a playful interviewer asked her what she would do if she woke up and found herself in the White House home of U.S. president.

"I'd go straight to Mrs. Truman and apologize," replied the gray-haired Republican from Maine. "Then I'd go home."

No one asks that question playfully anymore.

On Jan. 27 Mrs. Smith, just turned 66, plans to announce whether she will make at least a token run for the White House in 1964.

If she is successful in landing the Republican nomination for president — or even vice-president — she would be the first woman ever to run on the national ticket of a major U.S. political party.

The first step would be to enlist Barry Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller, and other Republican hopefuls in the New Hampshire primary March 10.

First primary
The New Hampshire primary is the first that will be held across the U.S., in which party supporters will be able to indicate their preference among the various candidates seeking official party nomination for the 1964 presidential election.

"I would think if I were a Republican candidate," the late President Kennedy told a press conference last fall, "I would not look forward to campaigning against Margaret Chase Smith in New Hampshire."

"She is a very formidable political figure."

Just how formidable was discovered 24 years ago when she ran for the congressional seat left vacant by the death of her husband, Clyde. Clyde was a formidable political figure who ran for public office 48 times and won 48 times.

Within five months of his death in April, 1940, his widow won the seat in a general election, getting 65 per cent of the vote.

Won Senate seat
Eight years and three re-elections later, Representative Smith raised her sights to the Senate, taking on Governor Horace Hildreth and ex-governor Sumner Sewall, who between them had money, position and the backing of virtually every Republican of note in Maine.

News And Items From Westbank

Returning home from Calgary at the weekend was Mrs. W. W. Smith, who traveled to Calgary early in the month to welcome her first grandchild, a son, and her first grand-daughter, a daughter.

Home again following a holiday spent with his brother Ralph and family at Tacoma, is Frank Jones.

First United Evening Guild
Mrs. C. R. Cameron lent her home for the annual meeting of the Evening Circle of Westbank First United Church, at which Mrs. Clayton McGraw was chosen as president for the ensuing year, replacing retiring president, Mrs. Herb Stafford.

Mrs. William MacLachlan accepted the office of secretary succeeding Mrs. Peter Romanchuk, and volunteering to continue as treasurer was Mrs. Nelson Reece. Mrs. Stafford was appointed publicity convenor.

Members voiced a cordial invitation to all women interested in church activities to attend meetings of the Evening Circle held at 8 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month.

Plans were made for the annual rummage sale to be held in First United Church Hall, Kelowna, on March 7. Contributors to this sale and having articles to be picked up are asked to phone Mrs. Stafford at 768-5394.

Saint George's Anglican Guild
Election of officers to St. George's Anglican Guild took place at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. C. McKay. Re-elected as president for a second term was Mrs. H. O. Paynter, and chosen vice-president was Mrs. J. A. Brown.

Mrs. Robin Drought was appointed treasurer, replacing Mrs. K. Wood, who has held the position for the past eight years. A vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Wood for her faithful service.

Projects coming up in the near future include an evening of bridge at the home of Mrs. Paynter early in February, while the annual Valentine's Tea will be held from 8 p.m. on February 14 in Westbank Memorial Hall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strum, 1064 Jordan Avenue, Kelowna.

Her groom, John Edith Wagstaff, is a resident of Alberni. The couple were married by a few close friends and following the ceremony the newly married couple left on a honeymoon to the North American continent.

Mr. and Mrs. Strum are residing at 313 6th Avenue South, Port Alberni.

ANN LANDERS

Situation Is Serious Tell Mother At Once

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl 18, who is scared to death. Don't tell me to talk to my mother because I've never been able to talk to her about anything.

I've been dating since I was 13 and thought I knew my way around. Now I'm in serious trouble and I don't know which way to turn.

The boy who got me pregnant says he knows of two other guys who could have been his. That's all the court needs to let him off. When he said this I was so hurt I wanted to die.

Last night he brought me a slip of paper. He says three of these pills will correct the situation. Are these pills dangerous? Ann? Will they work? Please put this in the paper. If your answer came to my house, my folks would kill me—MISS DESPERATE.

Dear Miss: You use the phrase "correct the situation" as if you were talking about a case of fallen arches. The "situation" you refer to involves a life. And the "correction" you speak of so casually is called an abortion.

The word from here is NO! I repeat. NO! Don't take pills or any other kind of medication. Tell your mother about your condition at once. And, if you want a list of homes for unwed mothers in or near your city please let me know and I will send it immediately.

Dear Ann Landers: Gill and I have been married three months. I'm afraid we'll be divorced before we celebrate even one anniversary.

Whenever we are with friends and I start to tell something, Gill interrupts me with: "It wasn't that way at all. It was like this." Then he takes my story over and I feel two inches high.

Our friends must think I'm the world's biggest liar, or a nitwit. It's humiliating to be contradicted and chopped dead. I'd rather be slapped in the face.

We are not kids. I'm 28 and Gill is 31. This is the second marriage for both and I'm determined to make it work. For this reason I have not let Gill know I am crushed. Please help me.—HUMILIATED.

Canadian Teams Highly Praised

INNSBRUCK, Austria (CP)—Before the 1968 German AP—West Germany's Marina victory.

Klaus and Hans-Jürgen Baumbach are favored here to capture the figure skating championship in the opening event of the 1968 Winter Olympic Games. But the Canadian entry is expected to make a strong showing in the competition opening Wednesday.

Miss Kiska, 20, competing in her third Olympics, and her 21-year-old partner are defending world champions and need only to repeat their recent victory over the Soviet Union's Ludmila Belousova, 23, and Oleg Protopopov, 25, in the 1967 world championships to gain the coveted gold medal.

But Canada, which enjoyed a near monopoly on world pairs titles until the German couple broke the string in Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, a year ago, is optimistic about the prospects of its team of Debbie Wilkes and Guy Revell.

Neutral observers here think they will give the Belousova-Protopopov team a battle for the silver medal.

SILVERED IN 1963

Miss Wilkes, 17, of Unionville, Ont., and Revell, 22, of the Newmarket, Ont., were fourth in the world championships in 1962. They were silver medalists in the 1963 world championships when the blonde, five-foot Miss Wilkes suffered a concussion during practice.

Starting in 1964 the Canadians won seven of eight world pairs

MEDDLE BREAKS ARM

Norman Barclay, a British slasher, flew off the dangerous toboggan course, spun around in the air and landed on the edge of the cable breaking an arm.

Another British, Kenneth Kay-Smythe, was injured fatally earlier this week in a tobogganing accident near the same spot.

At the request of toboggan officials, the Olympic organizing committee agreed to install wooden lips at the top of the steep curves as soon as possible.

MAY UPSET ITALIANS

Practicing times so far have indicated that 1964 might be the year of detourment for the Italians. Britain, Canada and Austria have posted West Germany with good practice times.

Canada's four-man bobsled team clocked a fast time of one minute 48.4 seconds in its first practice run of the day.

Their time compared favorably with the 1:49.08 turned in by the West Germans, who set an official record for the course. The best previous time was 1:50.7 set last year when the run was five metres shorter.

The Canadian four-man team consists of pilot Vic Emery and brakemen Doug Askin, both of Montreal, John Emery of Toronto and Peter Kirby of St. John's, Que.

Fifth Meet Of Champions Beginning Saturday In 'Peg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Outstanding Empire State of Kansas and 13 countries will compete at the Winnipeg Arena Saturday night in the fifth annual international meet of 44 champions.

Of the 44 invitations sent out for the Royal Canadian Legion's annual event, 42 of them were accepted.

In the pole vault is Canadian record holder Dave Tork of West Virginia going against Jack Nystrom of Finland, Jeff Chase of Santa Clara, Calif., Youth Village, and Henry Watworth, formerly of West Point.

All will be trying to eclipse Tork's standard of 16 feet, 2 1/2 inches set last year in Toronto. In the 300-metre event is world 300-yards record holder Tom Robinson of the Bahamas, going against world 80-yards record holder Brooks Johnson of the University of Chicago, Track Club, Jim Lee and Bob Brooks, both of Oklahoma Baptist University.

Robinson's 300-yard record is 30.3 seconds and Johnson's 80-yards mark is six seconds.

COMPETE IN THE 60

They will compete as well in the 60, along with Lee, George Short of the University of Alberta and Brian McLaren of Winnipeg and North Dakota State University.

Also a possible entry in this event is Canadian record holder Harry Jerome, whose time for the distance is 6.1 seconds.

Bill Crothers of Toronto, who recently set a U.S. 440-yard record of one minute, 46.6 seconds, will be running the 600-yards event against world record holder George Kerr of Jamaica and Oregon State University, Bill Cornell of British Columbia and the University of Southern Illinois and George Sheperd and Dave McLure, both of Toronto.

Kerr's world mark is 1:09.7. And in the shot put, California's Parry O'Brien, second-ranked in the world, will be matching heaves with Yul Vost of Yugoslavia and the New York Athletic Club and George Woods of Southern Illinois. All three should eclipse the Canadian record of 52 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

Another record that is expected to fall is the Canadian high jump mark of six feet, 10 inches owned by Law Hoyt of the United States.

Attacking this will be Stig Pettersson of Sweden, Joe Faust of California and Teodoro Flores Palacios of Guatemala, all capable of topping seven feet, and Henrik Hellan of Finland and Colin Clarkson of Sierra Leone and the University of Saskatchewan, both capable of well over six foot leaps.

Canadiens Cling To Feathers Of Warmed-Over Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Before the current National Hockey League season got under way, observers at the Montreal Canadiens training camp were convinced John Ferguson couldn't make the team.

But the rookie left-winger continued to embarrass his detractors Thursday night as he scored two goals and half set up another as the Canadiens dumped New York 4-2 in Montreal. Although he missed 13 games with an injury, he now has 14 goals.

The victory, Montreal's seventh in eight games with the Rangers, enabled the Canadiens to keep pace with the Chicago Black Hawks, who beat Boston 3-1 in the only other game played. The Hawks and Canadiens share the NHL lead, although Montreal holds a game in hand.

Ferguson opened the scoring but the Rangers came back with two goals to force the Canadiens to explode for three markers in the third period to keep their unbeaten string intact at six games. Ex-Canadians netminder Jacques Plante again was bombarded by his former teammates, facing 43 shots.

Earl Ingarfield knotted the score in the second period and Rod Gilbert, scoring his 19th of the season, put the Blueshirts ahead in the second minute of the final period. Gilbert now has scored in seven straight games, three short of Andy Bathgate's record.

Vernon Wins Set With 8-6 Decision

The Vernon juveniles completed the sweep of their best-of-three semi-finals against their Kelowna counterparts Thursday night with a close 8-6 win in Kelowna.

Vernon won the first game in Vernon. The scoring was well spread around for both teams as 14 players handled scoring honors.

Scoring for Vernon were: Norm Schiman, Tom Edwards, Vern Collex, Bruce Cullen, Rick Helly, Gordon Clarke, Kaz Mowse and Ted Palm.

Kelowna tallies went to: Doug Scott, Les Lonsway, Bill Nixon, Maurice Wernicke, George Watson and Mike Clebe.

It was a tight contest throughout with Vernon finally taking firm control at the 13-minute mark of the third period. The Vernon squad will meet either Summerland or Penticton in Valley play-offs.

Kelowna Wins Bantams Joust

VERNON (Staff) — Visiting Kelowna bantams scored three overtime goals to dump Vernon 9-6 in the first game of the Okanagan bantam semi-finals played here Thursday night.

Kelowna scored six unanswered goals in the first period then slackened off in the next two periods as Vernon came back with six unanswered goals to force the game into overtime.

Robert Arrance notched the overtime winner at the 16-second mark for Kelowna, with two more insurance markers added later.

Henny Rantucci led Kelowna with four goals and two assists. Arrance and Blaine Schroeder each notched a pair and a single came from Ivars Dravinskis.

Vernon scoring was handled by Orest Humenik with a pair and one assist, while singles were scored by Jeff Wilson, Rolf Dykstra, John Ross and Mike Peropolin.

The second game of the series will be played in Kelowna Saturday morning.

Hockey Week Set By Kelowna Mayor

R. F. Parkinson today called upon all citizens to support Minor Hockey Week in Kelowna which commences Saturday, January 25.

His Worship expressed his pleasure at being asked to endorse "The Week" and went on to say: "I know that my fellow council members would want me to endorse Minor Hockey Week in Kelowna, and in doing so to join with councils all across this great nation who this week will be paying tribute to their local minor hockey associations and the many volunteer workers who make minor hockey possible for almost 175,000 young Canadians. Minor Hockey Week, starting January 25, provides an opportunity for civic officials and citizens to pay tribute to the community spirit and to the development of minor hockey possible.

"Hockey is Canada's National Game, and from coast to coast our most important sporting activity. Here in our own municipality it occupies a very important position in community activities. It is played with the greatest enthusiasm and with ability and the people who make this possible should have our utmost support.

"In addition to providing youth with pleasurable and beautiful recreation it contributes to the development of sportsmanship, team spirit, discipline and good citizenship. Hockey is also a game that provides mental stimulation and encourages and trains the players to think quickly and to react to unexpected situations. All of these things are beneficial and are deserving of the commendation and support of our entire community.

"Personally, and on behalf of the members of my council, and of course on behalf of the citizens we represent, I thank all those who are engaged in the promotion and encouragement of minor hockey here in the city of Kelowna. We recognize their contribution to the community and commend them for their activity. This year, because of their administrative of our league, and because of the natural enthusiasm for our national game, more than 500 boys, divided into 36 teams, will be playing superbly organized, properly supervised hockey in our town.

"Therefore, I ask all citizens to observe Minor Hockey Week. They may do this in many ways. Most important, of course, is to encourage their boys to participate, but adults may be of inestimable support by attending the special events arranged for Minor Hockey Week, and by continuing to attend the games for the balance of the season. I commend to you the official slogan of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association: "Don't Send 'Take Your Boy to the Arena' — then stay to see him play." In this way we as citizens can join with your council to express gratitude to those who are doing such a fine job for the boys of our community," the mayor said.

Okanagan Rep, Russ Cmolik Set For Provincial Finals

The Russ Cmolik rink from Kelowna Senior Secondary High School will be one of the rink representing four areas in the Okanagan in Osoyoos tomorrow for the BC High School curling championship.

The areas represented will be Northern BC, the Kootenay district, the Okanagan Valley and the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island. Cmolik is Okanagan champion.

Besides the ship, and other members of the rink are: Tom Hickling, Brad Cmolik and Bob Wilson. They won the right to play in the provincial finals with a come-back triumph over a Lil'lost rink in Peachland earlier this month.

After losing the first match 8-3, they fought back for 8-6 and 10-7 decisions and the Okanagan championship.

Final Contest With Rockets

Kelowna Buckaroos will probably have to settle for a second place finish for the 1967-68 Okanagan Junior Hockey League season but it is nothing to be downhearted about.

They have shown excellent spirit and better-than-expected ability around the net. Tonight, they play the top spot Kamloops Rockets for the last time in the regular schedule in Kelowna.

There is an issue at stake. Kamloops has won four, lost three and tied one with the Buckaroos in Kelowna Memorial Arena. A win for Kelowna would put them on an even keel with their season-long rivals.

The season will be cut short with the last game being dropped to allow for the beginning of the round-robin finals.

The home-town crew will be at a definite disadvantage play-wise tonight.

Ken Kitch, John Strong and Marcello Verna are still suspended. Three players from the juvenile ranks have been called up.

Buckaroo GM, Bob Giordano said the trio performed well Wednesday night during Kelowna's 6-2 loss at the hands of Kamloops.

There will be the lucky program prize tonight plus a free gift for the holder of the lucky admission ticket. Season ticket-holders are also eligible.

R. J. Topping, president of the Okanagan Curling Association is expected to attend the weekend matches. Walter Hobbs of Kelowna, secretary of the BC Curling Association will also attend.

The supporting soft drink firm incurs travelling expenses for all teams going to Osoyoos, as part of its Canadian Junior Sports Development Program, aimed at youngsters under 19 years of age.

Judo Enthusiasts Here Tomorrow

The Kelowna Judo Club is sponsoring the BC Closed Judo Tournament on Saturday at the Kelowna Senior Secondary High School gymnasium commencing at 10 a.m.

Events are planned for juniors, seniors and black belts during the one day competition. Judo-kas will attend from Vernon, Revelstoke, Kamloops, Grand Forks, Greenwood, Penticton, Vancouver, Steveston, New Westminster and other cities throughout the province.

Tickets may be purchased at the following prices: adults-75 cents; students-50 cents and children-25 cents. The tickets are good for the entire day.

The purchase of tickets may be made from Jack Coop's Smoke and Gift Shop or any member of the Kelowna Judo Club.

Q13
You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♠	1♠	Pass	Pass

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
2. ♠A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
3. ♠A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
4. ♠A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
5. ♠A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

1. Two spades. Game is unlikely at this point, since partner's overall will usually be based on a hand that would not qualify as an opening bid. However, there is some chance of game, and this possibility can best be exploited by raising to two spades.

2. It would be wrong to bid two clubs instead. Such a bid would denote shortage in spades and a long club suit and would not constitute an effort to get to game as much as an effort to get to a better part score contract. The direct raise is a more constructive move in the direction of game.

3. Three spades. This is of course a stronger try for game than two spades, but in this case the prospect of making four spades is better than in the preceding hand. The jump to three spades is not forcing and

4. Four spades. There is no need to be gingerly with this type of hand. The odds strongly favor making four spades, since the cards would have to be pretty much stacked for four tricks to be lost. A further advantage of jumping to four is that it becomes difficult for the opponents to find a sacrifice at five clubs or diamonds, if it exists.

5. Three notrump. It would be wrong to bid only two notrump, which would show a good hand all right but would also permit partner to pass. It is bad policy to invite partner to bid a game when you already know what you want to be in game. It is hard to imagine a hand than North might have for his spade overall which would not offer an excellent play for game. The thing to do in such cases is to bid the game.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Don't make drastic changes now—especially in the A.M.—since most projects, if already launched, should run quite smoothly. Avoid anxiety, since nervous tension could cause you to make foolhardy moves, causing trouble later.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, matters concerned with your job and future security will undoubtedly occupy most of your time and energy this year. This is as it should be, however, since your horoscope promises fine occupational and financial headway if you are willing to work hard and profit by all available opportunities even at the expense of some personal desires. Look for some exceptionally good periods along monetary lines in early March, mid-June, October and November; along career lines in early February, late March, mid-April, September and November. Do avoid extravagance and/or speculation in April, May and September, however.

You could experience some tension in late February and/or in October, but this can be averted if you do not overtax yourself to the point of fatigue. Personal relationships will be governed by fine influences for most of the year, and the latter part of March, mid-June, September and December should prove highly interesting from a sentimental standpoint. Best periods for travel and social activities: early February, May, July, August, November and December.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and unusual versatility; may have to curb tendencies to go to extremes, however.
